

Have to Have a Plan

John H. Keenan & Jo-Anne R. Wilson-Keenan

1. There's so much information
How can I choose?
I don't want to get the information blues
So first I figure out the project I will do and kinds of information
I need to use

Chorus

Have to have a plan
Have to have a plan
To do the best I can I have to have a plan

2. I think of all the places where I can look Video, interview, magazine Internet, artifact, book I pick the best ones and find the parts I need I take time to examine view, hear and read

Chorus

3. Then I take time to put information together A little from here, a little from there will make my project better Then I check my work and the process I used Did they help me beat
the information blues?

Chorus (twice)
