“Loopy the Inchworm”

(Claudia Robin Gunn)

I found a little inchworm
Inching up an oak tree
Looping in a funny way
Doubled up and back again

It crawled onto a leaf and up my arm
It must have thought that I was a little acorn

And I got a kind of loopy love
Got me doing inchworm stuff
Like this bendy stretchy yoga pose
Now I can touch my knees with my nose

Now Loopy goes where I go
Inching up my headphones
Looping in a funny way
Doubled up and back again

After looping all day it's time to sleep
And Loopy snuggles up on an oak leaf

Now I got a kind of loopy love
It's got me doing inchworm stuff
Like this bendy stretchy yoga pose
Now I can touch my knees with my nose

I love Loopy, Loopy loves me
I love Loopy, Loopy loves me

Goodbye my little inchworm
Looping up your oak tree
Looping in your funny way
Doubled up and back again

Inchworm, inchworm, inchworm

Now I can touch my knees with my nose

I just got a kind of loopy love
It's got me doing inchworm stuff
Like this bendy stretchy yoga pose
Now I can touch my knees with my nose

I love Loopy, Loopy loves me
I love Loopy, Loopy loves me
