“The Weather Report”

(Claudia Robin Gunn)

Rain or shine or snow it's fine, thunder crackle and lightning strike
Rain or shine or snow it's fine, thunder crackle and lightning strike

When it rains it pours, when it shines it soars
When it's windy it blows me away
When it's freezing it crackles, when it's too hot to handle
I just head for the shade

I don't mind whichever way the weather turns
I'll just bring my duffle coat, sunscreen and gloves
I don't mind whichever way the wind blows
Change is the one thing we're certain of
Change is the one thing we're certain of

Rain or shine or snow it's fine

When it snows it sprinkles, when it hails it tinkles
When it thunders it rumbles the sky
When lightning it flashes, my eyes blink their lashes
When leaves rustle I hear them sigh

We don't mind whichever way the weather turns
We just wave it on by
We don't mind whichever way the wind blows
For one day we may hitch a ride
One day we may hitch a ride

Rain or shine or snow it's fine

When it gleams it glimmers, when it's frosty it shimmers
When it's misty it'll soon drift away
Whether bright or breezy
I'm happy the weather can change

LYRIC SHEET

And the science of meteorology
Has got me hooked on the wonderful mystery
Highs and lows soon rolling over
Lightning, hail, rain, sun, wind, snow and thunder
I just watch the weather report
I cant say that I wasn't warned

Rain or shine or snow it's fine, thunder crackle and lightning strike
Rain or shine or snow it's fine, thunder crackle and lightning strike

Change is the one thing we're certain of x2

I don't mind whichever way the weather turns
I always check before I head out
I don't mind whichever way the wind blows
At least it gives something to talk about
At least it gives something for folks to talk about

Rain or shine or snow it's fine, thunder crackle and lightning strike
Rain or shine or snow it's fine, thunder crackle and lightning strike
