

Sleeping in the Back Seat

(Tom Paxton, Pax Records, 1989)

It's been a long day's travelin.
We've come such a long long way.
It's no surprise to have sleepy eyes at the end of a long long day. And now we're

Chorus:

Sleeping, sleeping in the back seat,
snoozing, snoozing in the back seat,
sleeping, sleeping in the back seat,
on our way back home. (repeat)

We've seen such lovely weather.
We've seen such beautiful sights.
Now I think we agree, that we're happy to see the Sandman turn out the lights. Because we're

(Chorus)

The radio is playing a real old-fashioned song.
I heard them say, "It's Yesterday" and the grown-ups are singing along. And we are

(Chorus)

I love the sound of the engine.
I love the sound of the tires.
When rolling down to sleepy town is all that we desire. And we are

(Chorus)
