verse 1:
Sometimes I think how I've gotten older
How much years I’ve grown since I was small
Then I wonder when I will be grown up
How long will it take me to grow tall?

bridge 1:
If everything has parts that I can count
And years are broken into months and days
If everyone is counting on a clock
And ages could be counted different ways

chorus:
I am 1, 2, 3
Going on a million
I’m a million moments going by
I am 4, 5, 6
7, and a billion
I’m just working out the reason why

verse 2:
There’s a million seconds in just 12 days
I can feel each second in my heart
I grow older in this sea of seconds
Always moving start to end to start

bridge 2:
If everything that's living has to grow
And even grown-ups do- that's what I know
If everyone has hearts that need to beat
And something always makes my heartbeat go

(repeat chorus)

bridge 3:
Maybe one day I will find an answer
Maybe one day I will find a clue

Why do people count with only numbers?
We all count when we are counted too

(repeat chorus)
