

ONE LESS MOUTH TO FEED

Well Livvy, lately life's been lousy	C
And I know that you're upset	C
But life won't get no better	C
If you can't learn to forget	G
Cryin' won't bring John-Boy back,	Dm
He's out there on his own	Dm
And I hope that he is happy,	Dm-G
And I hope he don't come home,	G-G7

Chorus

'Cause that's one less mouth to feed	C
One less mouth to feed	F
When your bluebird of happiness	C
Eats a poison seed	F-Dm
Just look on the bright side,	Dm-G
That's one less mouth to feed!	G7-C

Accidents will happen
It's sad the way things change
Mary Ellen fell in to the well
And the water's tasting strange
Ben burned with the chicken coop
And ruined all the eggs
And Grandpa's headed toward the lake
With his moustache all ablaze,

Chorus: When the apple of your eye
Has a worm you didn't need

Jim-Bob sank in the river
Tryin' t'catch a frog
Lis'beth ate the dog's food
And got eaten by the dog
Erin's joined a convent,
Jason's guzzlin' gin
Grandma hitchhiked to the city
To live a life of sin,

Chorus: When your bunny with the lucky feet
Gets flattened in the street

And now you say you're leavin' me
To find a better life
I hope Ike Godsey loves you
I hope he don't leave me his wife
The sun is shining somewhere
This house is cold as stone
And I miss you so my darling,
But it's great to be alone!!

Chorus: When your milk-cow of contentment
Falls asleep in the stampede
When the flower of your life
Gets mowed down with the weeds
When you little lamb of innocence
Gets terminal V.D.
