

11. Stand Up

by Gary Gassel & Pam Tims

Red, it's a pretty color
It's bright and red is fun
Is anybody wearing red today
If so stand up

I bet alot of you are wearing white
You can see white even at night
Look and see if you're wearing white
If so stand up

Now here's a color that's new
Is anyone wearing blue
Now blue can be dark or the lightest you've seen
And how about all of you wearing blue jeans
Come on stand up

Next is the color green
The prettiest color I've seen
Are you the one who's wearing green
If so stand up

Yellow is the color of the sun
It brings a smile to everyone
If you're wearing yellow then you're so much fun
If so stand up
How about orange or brown

For those of you still sitting down
Are you wearing orange or brown
Check and see now by looking down
If so stand up

Now everyone should be standing
There should be no one sitting down
But if there is, well, they're our winner
So come on now, it's your turn
Stand up

Activity Suggestions

This is a simple color reinforcement activity that invites the children to stand up when they hear a color they are wearing. For a little variation, instead of standing have the children call the name of someone wearing the color that is called or have the children point to something around the room that is the color called.